Connor Riddle – Eagle Scout Project August 2026

GARDINER - Connor began his Scouting journey in 2016 as a Tiger Scout with Pack 672 in Gardiner, Maine. He advanced through the Cub Scout ranks, earning the Arrow of Light in 2021 before crossing over to Troop 672 during his fifth-grade year.

Connor quickly embraced the challenges of Scouts BSA, earning merit badges and learning scout skills within his first few months in the troop. In April 2022, he attended Introduction to Leadership Skills Training (ILST), beginning his leadership journey within the troop.

In July 2022, Connor attended Camp Hinds, where he earned his scuba certification in preparation for a Scouting High Adventure trip to Sea Base in the Florida Keys the following summer. In July 2023, at just 12 years old, Connor was one of the youngest Scouts to attend. During the five-day, four-night expedition aboard a catamaran, he completed 15 scuba dives while taking on the same responsibilities as every other crew member. Scouts prepared meals, maintained their scuba equipment, stood overnight on fire and anchor watch, and worked together to operate the vessel. Connor also earned the distinction of being the only Scout entrusted to sit in the captain's chair and steer the boat while the captain was below deck.

In August 2024, Connor attended National Youth Leadership Training (NYLT), where he further developed the leadership skills he had begun building through ILST. Throughout the course, he excelled as both a team member and leader, making such a strong impression on the staff that he was recognized for his outstanding work ethic and leadership abilities. At the time, Connor was preparing to run for Senior Patrol Leader, and later that fall, he was elected to the position.

As Senior Patrol Leader, Connor led Troop 672 through numerous meetings, campouts, and activities while working to strengthen the troop's youth-led culture. One of his primary goals was ensuring that meetings and outings were planned and led by the Scouts, with adult leaders serving only as mentors and advisors in accordance with the principles of Scouting. After completing his term in the fall of 2025, Connor transitioned into the role of Junior Assistant Scoutmaster, where he continued to mentor younger Scouts and provide guidance to the troop's youth leadership during planning and decision-making. During the 2025–2026 Scouting year, Connor focused on completing his Eagle Scout service project. Deb Couture, Commander, American Legion Post 181 approached Troop 672 with a request to build a new fire pit following the completion of

Chase, 5 minutes into cleaning his room: “I am done with this, I don’t want to be here anymore, and I think I’m going to Mimi and Papas now.”
—Kassondar, Wales

When traveling with my 5-year-old grandson, I try to keep him busy with verbal mind games. I play a game called “What am I?” I give him 2-3 hints, and he has to guess what I am. For example, I have four corners, and I need a stamp before you mail me; what am

I? A letter, of course! When it came to his turn, he shared, “I’m small and significant.” My husband and I looked at each other and said, “Did he really say SIGNIFICANT?” My grandson confirmed that it was significant. I proceeded with guesses like my wallet or wedding ring, to which he replied, “No, Jojo, the answer is ...ME!” I assured him he was 100% correct!

the Post’s new building. The fire pit would serve as the centerpiece for future Flag Retirement Ceremonies.

Connor met with Deb and other members of the Legion to understand their vision for the project. Given considerable creative freedom, he designed a fire pit that was both larger and more functional than the original while thoughtfully incorporating bricks from the previous fire pit into the new retaining walls, preserving a meaningful connection to the past.

To help make the project a reality, Connor contacted McGee Construction and secured generous donations of materials. He also worked with Ryan Eldridge of Maine Cabin Masters and owner of Seven Pines General Contracting, who generously donated materials while also volunteering his time and expertise to assist Connor with planning and project execution.

After months of planning, organizing volunteers, coordinating materials, and serving as the project foreman, Connor successfully completed the fire pit on June 27, 2026.

Connor has demonstrated leadership, service, perseverance, and dedication throughout his Scouting career. With only one remaining merit badge and the completion of his Eagle Scout Board of Review paperwork, he is poised to earn the rank of Eagle Scout—the highest achievement in Scouting.

1837 Female Academy

The Female Academy, later Eaton School and then, for almost 50 years, Norridgewock High School, is now on the National Register of Historic Places due to its early role in higher education and Greek Revival architecture. The Female Academy was started in 1837 for women only, and after the Civil War became a co-ed high school before the school outgrew the space and a new school was built next door (today that new school is the Grange). Both the Female Academy and the Grange are on the National Register of Historic Places. (Provided by Norridgewock Historical Society)

“Wagons Ho! Remembering the 1976 Bicentennial Wagon Train” Schools

AUGUSTA - Wagon Trains from all corners of the country made the trek to Valley Forge for July 4, 1976, our nation’s 200th Anniversary. The planning, creating and great success of the Wagon Trains will be covered along with first-hand recollection of the events. The Maine Wagon was driven by Lyle Strickland of Belgrade with his Percherons, Duke and Don. The story of the Wagon Trains is presented by Sharon Nadeau, President of the Belgrade Historical Society and Geri Herbster, a BHS member who rode as an outrider with the New England Train shares her experiences along the trail.

KHS presenter Sharon Young Nadeau grew up in Sidney, studied Criminal Justice at UMA and held employment within the University of Maine System until her retirement in September 2020. In need of new adventure, she got involved with the Belgrade Historical Society in 2022. She currently serves as the President of the Belgrade Historical Society and Secretary of the Sidney Historical Society.

KHS presenter Geri Herbster has lived in Maine for 37 years. She has moved with the military many times in her life. She and her husband Jeff live on “The Belgrade Stream” and spend their retirement watching the wildlife that abounds there. She enjoys gardening, reading, history and fishing.

The presentation is free to the public (donations are gladly accepted), is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 30, at Augusta City Center, located at 16 Cony Street in Augusta. For more information, call Scott Wood, KHS executive director, at 622-7718.

Decent people and a dropped raisin

I realize there is a smattering of decent people quietly roaming the backroads of our planet. However, it seems like a growing challenge to stumble upon a true specimen.

Pause your reading now and imagine me standing at kitchen counter last night slicing some edibles, when a small bit of something falls to the floor just in front of me. I initially glance straight down to where it must have landed. Nothing in sight. Oh, it must have hit the front of my foot and bounced forward under the dishwasher. I go to my knees and look, but do not spot the speck of future, mice fodder.

I am pressed to continue my search seeing nothing to my left or right. So, I look behind me over the rest of the kitchen, staring at clean, gray ceramic tiles. No little fleck of increasingly irritating edible in sight. It may be on that mysterious journey to China where all dropped (and never found) objects of any kind end their joyous travels. I recall as a youngster, if I had lost something my mother would say, “It’s probably in China by now. Pray to Saint Anthony to find it.” (Anthony is the Roman Catholic Patron Saint of lost things.) If you are always misplacing or losing things like me, you begin calling him just Tony.

Now, let the reader stop and recall all the tiny items that have you have dropped and mysteriously disappeared from your clumsy life. Maybe they all be in the Far East. You might now imagine why so many of the things (other than electronics) that we buy, Made in China, fall apart. All our dropped delights are gathered by low-paid workers and thrown into a vat then processed into whatever the end product is supposed to simulate.

I started looking over the entire kitchen. While on the hunt I made a good guess it was a raisin that wandered off. I was preparing a Waldorf Salad with apples, celery, and raisins. “Hey, I think, raisins are the same color as the chairs around the table.” Facing desperation now I go to the far-distant stretches of our kitchen. On my knees, hiding next to the fourth chair leg I have inspected, sits the unwittingly camouflaged, dried grape. I know beyond any doubt, this raisin has been purposely designed somewhere by some deranged, obsessive/compulsive imp to irritate me.

The chopped apples still resting on the countertop have not yet turned brown, though this adventure has taken all of five minutes. There is still a chance I may be able to eat this dish. However, I am presented with another dilemma. Do I return the item to the salad bowl, having now cheated the Chinese workers out of a tiny portion of collected droppings that magically skulk their way to Hong Kong from the kitchen floors around the world?

Well, what have “dropped delights” and Chinese workers got to do with an honest search for decent people? I do not know. It is too philosophically difficult for me to even ponder. I would advise you to just keep looking for that missing raisin - or paper clip - or button - or chocolate chip - or earring, -or aspirin...or...whatever.

If you have similar thoughts as mine noted in the first two sentences in this chronicle of mental digressions, here is a final thought. This quote was on my daily tear-off calendar this morning: “The world is full of decent people. If you can’t find one, be one.”

Conserving fuel as prices rise

Metro

Fuel is a necessity for millions of drivers on the country’s roadways. According to a recent report from Experian Automotive, approximately 1.4 percent of the 292.3 million cars and trucks on the road in the United States in 2024 were electric. Even though the number of EVs is rising, there are still plenty of people behind the wheels of gas-powered vehicles that require routine fill-ups.

As of late March 2026, the national average gas price in the United States at the same was $3.98 per gallon. When gas prices rise due to various factors, drivers are increasingly interested in ways to conserve fuel and stretch their dollars further. Here are some ways to mitigate rising gas prices.

- Reduce your speed. Driving at moderate speeds increases efficient consumption of fuel. Some vehicles may feature an “ECO” mode that optimizes fuel consumption by restricting engine power, among other changes, or notifies the driver when they are driving in a manner that is using fuel wisely. Driving above 50 miles per hour reduces fuel economy considerably.
- Practice smooth driving. Drivers should avoid aggressive starts (gunning it) and hard braking, which can eat into fuel efficiency. Letting off the accelerator early and coasting to red lights or stop signs helps.
- Rely on cruise control. Cruise control helps maintain a steady speed, which can save fuel on highway travel.
- Keep tires inflated. Properly inflating tires to the manufacturer’s recommended PSI can improve fuel economy by roughly 0.6 percent to 3 percent for most drivers, offers the U.S. Department of Energy. Driving on tires that are 20 percent under-inflated can reduce fuel economy by as much as 10 percent. Removing unnecessary heavy items from the vehicle also can help to reduce drag.

- Limit idling and combine trips. Turn off the vehicle when stopped for more than a few minutes. When running errands, combine short trips to keep the engine warm, which is more efficient.
- Skip the premium fuel. Unless a vehicle owner’s manual specifically recommends filling up with premium fuel, drivers will not see an increase in performance by choosing this more expensive option, offers Progressive Insurance. A person will just be paying more for premium, which is always more expensive than standard 87-octane fuel.

Keep Your Balance Boomers

Did you know that we all lose our balance over time as we age if we do not work at keeping it strong? After the age 50, balance ability declines steadily with each decade and by age 70, many people lose up to 30–40% of their balance-related functions; this includes muscle strength, reaction time, and sensory functions.

Balance loss is a part of aging, and it is one of the main contributors to falls and loss of independence in older adults. Also did you know falls are the leading cause of injury-related deaths among adults 65 plus. Did you know that over 3 million older adults are treated in emergency rooms each year for fall injuries? Did you know that poor balance is one of the top 3 risk factors for falls, along with muscle weakness and vision problems

Here are 3 of my favorite simple daily exercises to improve balance and stability.

- 1. Single leg stands – We should do this exercise throughout the day or several times a day when hanging out around the house. It’s easy and simple to do and helps immensely to keep balance strong.
- Stand behind a chair or alongside the kitchen counter or bar to hold on to for a little support until you can let go freely.
 - Lift one foot off the ground and hold for 20 to 30 seconds
 - Switch legs and alternat doing this for 5 to 10 minutes a day.

- 2. Heel to Toe Walk – Some of you may know this one, it is similar to what the police officer has you do when pulling you over for a DUI.
- Walk in a straight line, placing the heel of one foot directly in front of the toes of the other for 20 steps
 - Keep your shoulders back and posture upright and eyes forward without looking at your feet. Use a wall or chair for support if needed for the first couple of times until you get used to it.
 - Stand behind a chair and hold lightly for support
 - Lift one foot off the ground and hold
 - Switch legs

- 3. Chair squats – chair squats are great for lower body strength and stability and help with balance. By using a chair, it helps coordinate and active the correct muscles in the correct position in a very safe way.
- Sit in a sturdy chair with feet flat on the floor
 - Stand up slowly (use hands if needed)
 - Lower yourself back

Tech Support Scams

A new surge of tech support scams is threatening consumers. Criminals use scary warning pop-up messages, or cold calls pretending to be a major software company to gain access to your device.

Many modern tech support alerts closely resemble real system warnings, making them difficult to detect at first glance. Vulnerable targets include standalone home computers, tablets used for online banking, and personal laptops used in busy public Wi-Fi areas.

If your screen freezes or a strange alert pops up, pause before reacting. Reflect on what you might have heard (or read) about scams that start out like this. To clear the warnings, you may have to shut down your device to get rid of them.

To help stay safe, keep your operating system and antivirus software up to date. If you are concerned that your device may be compromised, get it checked out at a repair shop you trust.

Learn how to spot and avoid scams with AARP Fraud Watch Network™. Suspect a scam? Call our free helpline at 877-908-3360 and talk to one of our fraud specialists about what to do next.

Kennebec Valley welcomes thousands for Fifth IRONMAN 70.3 Maine Triathlon

AUGUSTA, Maine (July 30, 2026) – The Kennebec Valley Chamber of Commerce welcomed IRONMAN 70.3 Maine back to Augusta from July 24–26 for its fifth consecutive year, drawing more than 2,400 athletes and thousands of spectators, volunteers, and visitors to the region.

The weekend-long event once again brought energy and excitement to Augusta and surrounding communities while supporting local hotels, restaurants, retailers, attractions, and other businesses throughout the Kennebec Valley.

Festivities began Friday evening with the Kennebec Valley Chamber of Commerce’s annual Welcome Party in downtown Augusta. More than 500 guests gathered along the Kennebec River for live music, food trucks, drinks, lawn games, and a fireworks display. Athletes, spectators, volunteers, and community members came together to officially kick off race weekend and welcome visitors to the region.

On Sunday, July 26, athletes began their 70.3-mile journey with a 1.2-mile swim in the Kennebec River. After exiting the water, participants completed a 56-mile bike ride through Central Maine followed by a 13.1-mile run through Augusta and surrounding communities.

Luke Creger of the United States took the top spot in the men’s division, finishing in 3:56:08. Andree Burke of Canada led the women’s field with a time of 4:28:32.

The event was made possible by nearly 800 local volunteers representing businesses, schools, municipalities, nonprofit organizations, and community groups. Volunteers supported athletes throughout the weekend and helped create the safe, welcoming race experience for which the Kennebec Valley has become known.

“Watching thousands of athletes, spectators, and volunteers come together throughout the Kennebec Valley is an incredible reminder of what this event means to our region,” said Katie Doherty, President & CEO of the Kennebec Valley Chamber of Commerce. “The impact extends far beyond race weekend. It supports our small businesses, strengthens our hospitality industry, and continues positioning the Kennebec Valley as a leading sports tourism destination.”

Since the event’s Augusta debut in 2022, IRONMAN 70.3 Maine has welcomed more than 30,000 visitors to the region and generated an estimated $19.1 million in economic activity. That spending directly benefits communities throughout the Kennebec Valley while introducing athletes and their families to the region’s businesses, outdoor recreation, downtowns, and local attractions.

IRONMAN 70.3 Maine recently extended its partnership with the Kennebec Valley Chamber of Commerce through 2027, affirming Augusta’s place as a premier destination for

(IFC Films-Black Bear)

If you can recall that back in 2023, director John Woo made an experimental action film that’s mostly dialogue-free in the holiday-set Silent Night. Now, director Potsy Ponciroli took a bit of inspiration from that film to create his own “silent action movie,” this time with a retro-style theme with “Motor City.” Written by Chad St. John, this film takes the conventional basics of a hard-nosed crime thriller into an artistically driven, non-commercial entity straight out of Terrence Malick and less Michael Mann.

Set in late 1970’s Detroit, Miller (Alan Ritchson) is trying to live a happier, hard-working life with a good job and the love of his girlfriend Sophia (Shailene Woodley). But then, police stormed into their home and arrested him after finding pounds of illegal drugs in the trunk of his car. It turns out that his frame-up was masterminded by Sophia’s ex-boyfriend and drug kingpin Reynolds (Ben Foster) with the help of the corrupt Lt. Savick (Pablo Schreiber) as a way to get revenge on him for humiliating him the night the two lovebirds met. However, the good Detective Kent (Ben McKenzie) remains skeptical of the whole thing as Miller is sentenced to twenty-five years in prison.

One year into his sentence, Miller is left alone and heartbroken by the news that Sophia has just married Reynolds, while he remains in prison at the mercy of abusive guards. Fortunately for him, his ex-Vietnam buddies Youngblood (Lionel Boyce) and Singh (Amar Chadha-Patel) break him out of jail to save his lover.

Then tragedy suddenly strikes, and it leads him and his pals on a bloody trail of vengeance against the men responsible.

At first, the lack of dialogue is not all that bothersome since the movie has a good cast that finds a way to emot with their faces fittingly in those many scenes. It also uses some era-appropriate music from the likes of David Bowie, Fleetwood Mac, and The Moody Blues to convey each moment nicely. But as it goes on, it becomes apparent that there is seriously no reason for this movie to be almost devoid of characters talking aside from a few times you can hear them speak. It becomes a slow-paced slog for an hour and forty-minute feature that will likely have audiences lose patience with it. At least “Silent Night” had a point to being a silent film when the main character loses his voice, but we can still sympathize with his struggles enough for us to root for him towards the end.

Another issue with this movie is how it has trouble with the tone and style. A lot of the action over-stylizes with slow-motion and iffy CGI jumps and falls like a bad Zack Snyder film. Even when it gets dramatic like that arrest scene near the film’s beginning, it indulges too much in its stylistic choices, like the Fleetwood Mac song “The Chain” playing during that scene in its entirety when it could have been chopped considerably for length.

The standard vengeance-filled climax was supposed to deliver this epic feel of triumph, but this one drags the last twenty minutes to the grindstone. Worse, they chose to make a crucial part of the finale as a first scene, which lessens the dramatic impact. Not to mention, they put Bowie’s “Cat People (Putting Out Fire)” only in that first scene when it could have been the other way around.

The only good thing the movie does well is its cast doing their best to act through their scenes without talking. Woodley brings the most range of emotions between happy, sad, anger, and fright to her performance, while Foster finds a good balance between bad guy and sly slimeball by the way he smiles differently. As for Ritchson, he is fine with his acting, but it is tough to take him seriously during the prison scenes when he looks like the GEICO Caveman on steroids. McKenzie is basically replaying his Jim Gordon role from the TV series “Gotham” as the good cop, though Schreiber is having a blast playing the bad cop, and it shows.

Maybe a more patient viewer can find something more interesting about this, but “Motor City” is a pointless experiment that also ends up being a depressing and despairing slog of an action film. “Silent Night” was a decent film, but it is ultimately a better silent action film that demonstrates how to do it right.

THE MOVIE’S RATING: R (for strong bloody violence, some grisly images, drug content, sexuality/nudity, and language)

THE CRITIC’S RATING: 1.75 Stars (Out of Four)

ALLAGASH- HARD ROAD TO WILDERNESS

Take the two brothers, Buzz and Tim Caverly.

For a combined 72 years, these two men, both still alive and active, served the state of Maine as Conservation Officers in a variety of roles: Buzz, most notably as director of Baxter State Park, and Tim as Supervisor of the Allagash Waterway.

Few Mainers would dispute that in modern times no two individuals left a bigger mark as impassioned public servants and guardians of Maine’s wilderness than the Caverly boys.

Ironically, both brothers fought hard during their careers for what they believed in, and yet, eventually, they were both removed from their posts. Buzz, who knew Percival Baxter personally, struggled, sometimes against the grain, to honor Baxter’s vision for protecting the Park’s wilderness character. As the guardian of the Allagash Waterway’s integrity as an American Scenic River, Tim’s tenure as the Waterway supervisor was also a struggle against political maneuvering by those who would seek to serve their own self interests in ways that would undermine the statutory regulations intended to protect the wilderness character of the Waterway.

Looking back at the historical record of these two public leaders, which is so well chronicled in a book by Phyllis Austin titled “Wilderness partners” and Tim Caverly’s latest book, “The Allagash: A Hard Road to Wilderness,” it is astonishing to learn that so much political intrigue and bureaucratic internecine warfare was waged against two determined men, who simply valued Maine’s natural resources and wanted to protect the wilderness experience for all in perpetuity!

The adage comes to mind: “History rarely remembers the comfortable; it remembers the determined.”

“The Allagash: A Hard Road to Wilderness” is Tim’s 15th book in his Allagash Tails collection. Relying on personal logbooks, diaries, letters and office memos, he has woven together a fascinating tapestry of what happened behind the scenes in his 32 years as a Park Ranger and 18 years as the supervisor of the Waterway.

You will be amazed! The Caverly’s remote home was burned by arsonists. From 1981 to 2001, 17 pieces of legislation were proposed to undermine the integrity of the Waterway. Tim’s personal and professional kerfuffle with his nemesis, Rep. John Martin from Eagle Lake, is a real insight into the sheer venality that often underlies the Augusta political dynamic.

From Tim’s diary: “January 1999: Traveled to Augusta for yet another reprimand. I don’t think that the scolding will stop until they get me out. Expect to be gone by spring.” He was not wrong, for Caverly was dismissed in June of that year.

In his book’s conclusion, Caverly writes: “In the last four decades, state officials and politicians have undercut the law many times and betrayed the public trust.” Most damning of all is Caverly’s contention that the Maine Department of Conservation and its subdivision, the Bureau of Parks and Lands, itself “jeopardized the health of the Waterway and degraded any concept of wilderness.”

In other words, Caverly believes that the proverbial fox is guarding the chicken coop. Is the picture truly as bleak as the Caverly book portrays? I honestly don’t know.

What I do know is that the late Baxter State Park benefactor, Governor Baxter was wary of this sort of misfeasance and insisted that the oversight and administrative management of his creation was as insulated from the whim of state politicians as he could make it, hence: The Baxter State Park Authority.

Well, there is no doubt that Percival Baxter was a man of vision. With regard to the oversight of the Allagash Waterway, perhaps it is time to revisit the administrative structure of the significant and fabled Waterway.

MENIERE'S DISEASE

Q. A friend of mine has Meniere’s disease. What is it exactly?

Meniere’s disease is an inner-ear disorder that produces a group of symptoms including vertigo, a spinning sensation that can lead to nausea and vomiting. Meniere’s usually occurs in only one ear.

The disease was named after French physician Prosper Ménière who first described it in 1861. Meniere’s main symptoms are:

- Attacks of vertigo without warning that last 20 minutes to more than two hours.
- Permanent hearing loss that is suffered by most people with Meniere’s.
- Tinnitus, which is a ringing, buzzing, roaring, whistling or hissing sound in your ear.
- A feeling of fullness or pressure in the ear.

Attacks can come as often as daily or as little as once a year. An attack can be a combination of multiple symptoms.

The cause of Meniere’s disease isn’t known. It seems to be the result of the abnormal volume or composition of fluid in the inner ear. However, researchers are uncertain about what causes changes in the fluid. There is speculation that it may be caused by viral infections of the inner ear, head injury, a hereditary predisposition, and allergy. Meniere’s is not contagious.

There is no cure for Meniere’s, but you can find relief by reducing body fluid with diuretic medicines and a change in diet. Drugs that treat vertigo and nausea are helpful, too. If Meniere’s disease is severe, it may have to be treated with surgery.

The following are some changes you can make in your lifestyle to help with Meniere’s:

- Eat approximately the same amount of food at each meal to regulate body fluids. You may also eat five or six smaller meals instead of three meals a day.
- Salt can increase fluid retention. Try to consume no more than 1,000 to 1,500 milligrams of sodium daily.
- Avoid monosodium glutamate (MSG). Pre-packaged food products and some Asian foods include MSG, a type of sodium.

- Stay away from the caffeine in coffee, tea and some soft drinks. Caffeine can make symptoms worse.
- Nicotine can make Meniere’s symptoms worse, too. Quit smoking.

Part of the inner ear is a labyrinth lined with hair-like sensors that react to moving fluids. These sensors send information about body movement to the brain. The fluid and sensors tell us the direction and speed of our movements and they help us maintain balance.

If you experience symptoms of Meniere’s, see a physician for a diagnosis. Meniere’s symptoms can be caused by other diseases such as stroke, brain tumor, Parkinson’s disease, multiple sclerosis or cardiovascular disease.

Unpredictable attacks of vertigo from Meniere’s can be crippling. They can increase your risk of falling, having a car accident and getting depressed and anxious.

Turner Publishing

Turner Publishing Media is a family-owned and operated business established in Turner, Maine, in 1992. We have been supporting schools, children’s sports and academics, as well as promoting businesses and the communities we serve for over 32 years. All of Turner Publishing’s publications are Maine Made. Our printers use soy inks and solar methods to protect the environment while printing our publications. Our paper suppliers use power from hydroelectric sources and work with local plants to use waste heat; heat that would otherwise be sent into the environment, to help produce the steam needed in the papermaking process.

We were told 100% of the chips used for the newsprint come from waste streams of other processes, such as the waste from lumber mills. Our newsprint producers also have a process to ensure that all fiber supplies come from forests that are managed for sustainability and comply with forest management principles.

The chips go through a thermo-mechanical pulp-making process, which involves a combination of steam and mechanical force to break the chips into a “slurry” of water and fibers. Giant machines work the chips into a mixture that is mostly water. This mixture is then sent to a process to brighten the paper.

Newsprint is grayer than most other commercial papers. This is because the process of whitening newsprint does not use chlorine or other stronger agents and focuses on environmentally safe practices.

For this reason, we ask you to support Turner Publishing and the businesses in this publication and shop locally. Turner Publishing is not only doing its part to be environmentally responsible to save our planet, Turner Publishing promotes all the good things happening in the community and we donate over $300,000 annually in media sponsorships to non-profits, churches, historical museums, and the arts. The businesses in our publications help us do this with their ad revenue (support them as well), so that the good can keep spreading. “It’s All Good News” and thank you for reading!

This Italian comfort food hits the spot

“Comfort food” is an umbrella term that refers to a wide array of dishes. For fans of Italian food, there may be no dish that fits the comfort food mold better than lasagna. Lasagna can be made with a wide array of ingredients, and each iteration of it qualifies as comfort food. That’s certainly the case with this recipe for “Lasagna With Zucchini and Meat Sauce” from Lines+Angles.

Lasagna With Zucchini and Meat Sauce

Makes 9 Servings

- 2 large zucchini, rinsed and trimmed
 - Salt
 - 12 dried lasagna noodles
 - 1 pound ground beef
 - 1½ teaspoons ground black pepper
 - 1 small green bell pepper, rinsed, trimmed and diced
 - 1 onion, peeled and diced
 - 8 ounces tomato paste
 - 15 ounces canned tomato sauce
 - 3½ tablespoons red wine
 - 2 tablespoons chopped fresh basil
 - 1 tablespoon chopped fresh oregano
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - 2 cups low-fat ricotta cheese
 - 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
 - 2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
 - 2 cups grated Parmesan cheese
1. Preheat oven to 325 F. Coat a deep 9 x 13-inch baking pan with nonstick cooking spray.
 2. Slice zucchini lengthwise into very thin slices. Sprinkle slices lightly with salt; set aside to drain in a colander.
 3. Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil over high heat. Add the noodles and cook until al dente, 8 to 12 minutes. Drain, immerse in cold water to cool and drain again. Lay the noodles in a single layer on a baking sheet and cover with plastic wrap.
 4. Meanwhile, in a large skillet, set over medium-high heat, cook and stir the ground beef and black pepper for 5 minutes. Drain excess grease from pan. Add in green pepper and onion; cook and stir until beef is no longer pink. Stir in tomato paste, tomato sauce, wine, basil, and oregano. If sauce is too thick, add a small amount of warm water. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer sauce for about 20 minutes, stirring frequently.
 5. Meanwhile, stir egg, ricotta, and parsley together in a bowl and mix well.
 6. To assemble lasagna, spread 1/3 of the meat sauce into the bottom of prepared pan. Then layer 1/3 of the cooked lasagna noodles, 1/3 of the zucchini slices, 1/2 of the ricotta mixture, 1/3 of the mozzarella cheese. Repeat the layers ending with a layer of zucchini followed by a layer of noodles. Spread Parmesan cheese evenly over the top; cover with foil.
 7. Bake for 45 minutes. Remove foil; increase oven temperature to 350 F, and bake an additional 15 minutes. Let stand for 5 or 10 minutes before serving.

Tip: This may be assembled a day ahead. Refrigerate until ready to bake.

Kennebec Land Trust to hold 2026 Annual Meeting and Conservation Celebration

WINTHROP - The Kennebec Land Trust (KLT) invites the public to its 2026 Annual Meeting and Conservation Celebration at Vaughan Homestead, 2 Litchfield Road, Hallowell, on Thursday, August 20, 2026, 4:30-6:30 p.m., for an evening gathering to mark another year of land conservation and to thank the community members, donors, and volunteers behind it. Since its founding in 1988, KLT has protected more than 8,400 acres of forests, shorelands, fields, and wildlife habitats, and established over 61 miles of trails throughout central Maine.

For questions, call (207) 377-2848 or email Abby at askrabak@tklt.org.

Enjoy hikes and lawn games starting at 4:30 p.m., with refreshments—including a charcuterie board with local selections from Wicked Board Charcuterie—available for a suggested $15 donation. The Annual Meeting begins at 5:30 p.m., when attendees will celebrate KLT’s conservation accomplishments, recognize this year’s land donors, and learn about the summer stewardship projects underway on KLT properties. Feel free to stay for all or part of the evening.

Hopkins Stream, including the Roy and Rowena Hopkins Addition to the Ezra Smith Conservation Area, Mount Vernon.

Registration is suggested; the general public is welcome. If possible, bring a camp chair. For questions, call (207) 377-2848 or email Abby at askrabak@tklt.org.

Among this year’s highlights, KLT is celebrating the completion of its Shedd Pond Addition campaign. Launched in December 2025, the campaign raised funds to purchase 94 acres in Manchester and Readfield. The property is contiguous with 850 acres of New England Forestry Foundation and KLT conservation land surrounding remote Shedd Pond, expanding public recreation while protecting wetlands, forests, and water quality in the Cobbossee watershed.

During the annual meeting,

KLT will honor the following land donors:

Ralph and Karen Hopkins for their donation of the 30-acre Roy and Rowena Hopkins Addition to the Ezra Smith Wildlife Conservation Area in Mount Vernon.

With 885 feet of frontage on Hopkins Stream, this 30-acre conservation property features conifer and hardwood forests and ecologically important wetlands that are mapped by Maine Inland Fisheries and Wildlife as valuable wading bird and waterfowl habitat. The property, contiguous with KLT’s 163-acre Ezra Smith Wildlife Conservation Area, was donated to KLT in honor of Ralph’s parents, Roy and Rowena Hopkins. Public access is from Hopkins Stream.

Jan and Dallas Folk for their donation to the 100-acre Dead River Delta Conservation Area in Leeds.

Adjacent to Androscoggin Lake and the Dead River, this important conservation area protects a significant cultural and natural landscape, including 12,430 feet of shoreline on the Dead River and Androscoggin Lake and a rare plant population. It is part of Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife’s Androscoggin Lake Focus Area of Statewide Ecological Significance. The conservation area’s hardwood floodplain forest protects a diverse assemblage of plant species and exemplary natural communities, water quality in Androscoggin Lake and the Dead River, and valuable wildlife habitat. Public access is from Route 106 and the Dead River.

KLT will also present two volunteer awards this year. The Outstanding Volunteer Award goes to Deborah Plengey, in recognition of her commitment to the acquisition and permanent protection of the Shedd Pond

Addition to Gannett Woods, her stewardship of the North Acres Conservation Area and Wyman Forest, and her work advancing KLT’s partnership with the Town of Manchester. The Volunteer Stewardship Award goes to Beth Labaugh, in recognition of her many contributions to KLT and her dedication to the stewardship of the Judy Kane Kennebec River Conservation Corridor.

All are welcome! Visit www.tkl.org for additional information.
