Chase, 5 minutes into cleaning his room: “I am done with this, I don’t want to be here anymore, and I think I’m going to Mimi and Papas now.”
—Kassondar, Wales

When traveling with my 5-year-old grandson, I try to keep him busy with verbal mind games. I play a game called “What am I?” I give him 2-3 hints, and he has to guess what I am.

For example, I have four corners, and I need a stamp before you mail me; what am I? A letter, of course! When it came to his turn, he shared, “I’m small and significant.” My husband and I looked at each other and said, “Did he really say SIGNIFICANT?” My grandson confirmed that it was significant. I proceeded with guesses like my wallet or wedding ring, to which he replied, “No, Jojo, the answer is ...ME!” I assured him he was 100% correct!
— Jodi Gilbert, Greene

HOROSCOPES

ARIES - Mar 21/Apr 20
You have been burning the candle at both ends, Aries. You can't run on caffeine and grit all of the time. Find a day to rest before your body makes that decision for you.

TAURUS - Apr 21/May 21
Someone is testing your patience this week, Taurus. Before you stick to your guns, ask yourself if this is a battle worth fighting and then proceed.

GEMINI - May 22/Jun 21
It's time to mute as much internal noise as possible, Gemini. Focus on one project and make a concerted effort to finish it before jumping to the next thing on your to-do list.

CANCER - Jun 22/Jul 22
Cancer, the stars are washing over your emotional sector, making you confront what you have been sweeping under the rug for some time. Trust your feelings.

LEO - Jul 23/Aug 23
Leo, the universe is asking you to give others a shot to shine and for you to step into the background. Use this week to refine your talents out of the spotlight.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22
Virgo, keep your eyes open for a chance encounter mid-week that could spark a great new idea. Let go of the need to control the outcome and just go with the flow.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23
Collaboration is your superpower this week, Libra. If you've been stuck on a professional problem, run it by a colleague. The answer may lie in a perspective you haven't considered yet.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22
Your financial intuition is incredibly sharp, Scorpio. Trust your instincts right now. It's a great week to pitch a big idea, ask for a raise or reevaluate your budget

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21
Sagittarius, you are feeling an itch to break free from your routine but don't know where to begin. Don't drop everything just yet. Explore little adventures first.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20
There are a lot of ideas floating around in your head, Capricorn, but none have solidified into action just yet. Seek the opinions of others to identify a path forward.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18
Aquarius, every time you think you have a plan in place, the variables change. That's alright because you always have a backup idea should different scenarios present themselves.

PISCES - Feb 19/Mar 20
You can't predict where a relationship will go, Pisces. This week it is best to simply maintain the status quo. Things will be revealed soon enough.

This Italian comfort food hits the spot

“Comfort food” is an umbrella term that refers to a wide array of dishes. For fans of Italian food, there may be no dish that fits the comfort food mold better than lasagna. Lasagna can be made with a wide array of ingredients, and each iteration of it qualifies as comfort food. That’s certainly the case with this recipe for “Lasagna With Zucchini and Meat Sauce” from Lines+Angles.

Lasagna With Zucchini and Meat Sauce

Makes 9 Servings

- 2 large zucchini, rinsed and trimmed
- Salt
- 12 dried lasagna noodles
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1½ teaspoons ground black pepper
- 1 small green bell pepper, rinsed, trimmed and diced
- 1 onion, peeled and diced
- 8 ounces tomato paste
- 15 ounces canned tomato sauce
- 3½ tablespoons red wine
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh basil
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh oregano
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 cups low-fat ricotta cheese
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
- 2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
- 2 cups grated Parmesan cheese

1. Preheat oven to 325 F. Coat a deep 9 x 13-inch baking pan with nonstick cooking spray.

2. Slice zucchini lengthwise into very thin slices. Sprinkle slices lightly with salt; set aside to drain in a colander.

3. Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil over high heat. Add the noodles and cook until al dente, 8 to 12 minutes. Drain, immerse in cold water to cool and drain again. Lay the noodles in a single layer on a baking sheet and cover with plastic wrap.

4. Meanwhile, in a large skillet, set over medium-high heat, cook and stir the ground beef and black pepper for 5 minutes. Drain excess grease from pan. Add in green pepper and onion; cook and stir until beef is no longer pink. Stir in tomato paste, tomato sauce, wine, basil, and oregano. If sauce is too thick, add a small amount of warm water. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer sauce for about 20 minutes, stirring frequently.

5. Meanwhile, stir egg, ricotta, and parsley together in a bowl and mix well.

6. To assemble lasagna, spread 1/3 of the meat sauce into the bottom of prepared pan. Then layer 1/3 of the cooked lasagna noodles, 1/3 of the zucchini slices, 1/2 of the ricotta mixture, 1/3 of the mozzarella cheese. Repeat the layers ending with a layer of zucchini followed by a layer of noodles. Spread Parmesan cheese evenly over the top; cover with foil.

7. Bake for 45 minutes. Remove foil; increase oven temperature to 350 F, and bake an additional 15 minutes. Let stand for 5 or 10 minutes before serving.

Tip: This may be assembled a day ahead. Refrigerate until ready to bake.

Conserving fuel as prices rise

Metro

Fuel is a necessity for millions of drivers on the country’s roadways. According to a recent report from Experian Automotive, approximately 1.4 percent of the 292.3 million cars and trucks on the road in the United States in 2024 were electric. Even though the number of EVs is rising, there are still plenty of people behind the wheels of gas-powered vehicles that require routine fill-ups.

As of late March 2026, the national average gas price in the United States at the same was $3.98 per gallon. When gas prices rise due to various factors, drivers are increasingly interested in ways to conserve fuel and stretch their dollars further. Here are some ways to mitigate rising gas prices.

- Reduce your speed. Driving at moderate speeds increases efficient consumption of fuel. Some vehicles may feature an “ECO” mode that optimizes fuel consumption by restricting engine power, among other changes, or notifies the driver when they are driving in a manner that is using fuel wisely. Driving above 50 miles per hour reduces fuel economy considerably.

Metro photo
Drivers can use various strategies to conserve fuel when gas becomes more expensive.

- Practice smooth driving. Drivers should avoid aggressive starts (gunning it) and hard braking, which can eat into fuel efficiency. Letting off the accelerator early and coasting to red lights or stop signs helps.
- Rely on cruise control. Cruise control helps maintain a steady speed, which can save fuel on highway travel.

- Keep tires inflated. Properly inflating tires to the manufacturer’s recommended PSI can improve fuel economy by roughly 0.6 percent to 3 percent for most drivers, offers the U.S. Department of Energy. Driving on tires that are 20 percent under-inflated can reduce fuel economy by as much as 10 percent. Removing unnecessary heavy items from the vehicle also can help to reduce drag.

- Limit idling and combine trips. Turn off the vehicle when stopped for more than a few minutes. When running errands, combine short trips to keep the engine warm, which is more efficient.

- Skip the premium fuel. Unless a vehicle owner’s manual specifically recommends filling up with premium fuel, drivers will not see an increase in performance by choosing this more expensive option, offers Progressive Insurance. A person will just be paying more for premium, which is always more expensive than standard 87-octane fuel.

Keep Your Balance Boomers

Did you know that we all lose our balance over time as we age if we do not work at keeping it strong? After the age 50, balance ability declines steadily with each decade and by age 70, many people lose up to 30–40% of their balance-related functions; this includes muscle strength, reaction time, and sensory functions. Balance loss is a part of aging, and it is one of the main contributors to falls and loss of independence in older adults. Also did you know falls are the leading cause of injury-related deaths among adults 65 plus. Did you know that over 3 million older adults are treated in emergency rooms each year for fall injuries? Did you know that poor balance is one of the top 3 risk factors for falls, along with muscle weakness and vision problems

Here are 3 of my favorite simple daily exercises to improve balance and stability.

1. Single leg stands – We should do this exercise throughout the day or several times a day when hanging out around the house. It’s easy and simple to do and helps immensely to keep balance strong.

- Stand behind a chair or alongside the kitchen counter or bar to hold on to for a little support until you can let go freely.
- Lift one foot off the ground and hold for 20 to 30 seconds
- Switch legs and alternat doing this for 5 to 10 minutes a day.

2. Heel to Toe Walk – Some of you may know this one, it is similar to what the police officer has you do when pulling you over for a DUI.

- Walk in a straight line, placing the heel of one foot directly in front of the toes of the other for 20 steps
- Keep your shoulders back and posture upright and eyes forward without looking at your feet. Use a wall or chair for support if needed for the first couple of times until you get used to it.

- Stand behind a chair and hold lightly for support
- Lift one foot off the ground and hold
- Switch legs

3. Chair squats – chair squats are great for lower body strength and stability and help with balance. By using a chair, it helps coordinate and active the correct muscles in the correct position in a very safe way.

- Sit in a sturdy chair with feet flat on the floor
- Stand up slowly (use hands if needed)
- Lower yourself back down with control.
- Do 10 of these and take a little 2-minute rest and do 10 more or as many as you can take and gradually increase as you get stronger.

As with anything in life, Consistency is key! Even a few minutes each day can help improve balance, reduce risks of falls, and increase ease of movement.

Kennebec Valley welcomes thousands for Fifth IRONMAN 70.3 Maine Triathlon

AUGUSTA, Maine (July 30, 2026) – The Kennebec Valley Chamber of Commerce welcomed IRONMAN 70.3 Maine back to Augusta from July 24–26 for its fifth consecutive year, drawing more than 2,400 athletes and thousands of spectators, volunteers, and visitors to the region.

The weekend-long event once again brought energy and excitement to Augusta and surrounding communities while supporting local hotels, restaurants, retailers, attractions, and other businesses throughout the Kennebec Valley.

Festivities began Friday evening with the Kennebec Valley Chamber of Commerce’s annual Welcome Party in downtown Augusta. More than 500 guests gathered along the Kennebec River for live music, food trucks, drinks, lawn games, and a fireworks display. Athletes, spectators, volunteers, and community members came together to officially kick off race weekend and welcome visitors to the region.

On Sunday, July 26, athletes began their 70.3-mile journey with a 1.2-mile swim in the Kennebec River. After exiting the water, participants completed a 56-mile bike ride through Central Maine followed by a 13.1-mile run through Augusta and surrounding communities.

Luke Creger of the United States took the top spot in the men’s division, finishing in 3:56:08. Andree Burke of Canada led the women’s field with a time of 4:28:32.

The event was made possible by nearly 800 local volunteers representing businesses, schools, municipalities, nonprofit organizations, and community groups. Volunteers supported athletes throughout the weekend and helped create the safe, welcoming race experience for which the Kennebec Valley has become known.

“Watching thousands of athletes, spectators, and volunteers come together throughout the Kennebec Valley is an incredible reminder of what this event means to our region,” said Katie Doherty, President & CEO of the Kennebec Valley Chamber of Commerce. “The impact extends far beyond race weekend. It supports our small businesses, strengthens our hospitality industry, and continues positioning the Kennebec Valley as a leading sports tourism destination.”

Since the event’s Augusta debut in 2022, IRONMAN 70.3 Maine has welcomed more than 30,000 visitors to the region and generated an estimated $19.1 million in economic activity. That spending directly benefits communities throughout the Kennebec Valley while introducing athletes and their families to the region’s businesses, outdoor recreation, downtowns, and local attractions.

IRONMAN 70.3 Maine recently extended its partnership with the Kennebec Valley Chamber of Commerce through 2027, affirming Augusta’s place as a premier destination for the global triathlon community.

Following another successful race weekend, the Kennebec Valley Chamber and its community partners look forward to welcoming athletes, spectators, and volunteers back to Augusta for IRONMAN 70.3 Maine next summer.

TROUTLESS IN TIMBUKTU

If you were to drive your dinged-up old Chevy pickup, or even your shiny new Ford 150, to my favorite remote trout pond near Timbuktu, Maine, it would take you about the same time as a driving trip to watch the Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park.

You get the idea. It is a haul, a lot of it on dusty logging roads where heavily log laden Peterbilts may be just around the corner or over the brim of the hill.

But, if you like to catch trout on a fly, it is worth the trip. Or at least it has always been so.

Back in early June my sons and I made our annual pilgrimage to Timbuktu and “the pond” for our trout fix. There was no disappointment. The brookies were as accommodating as they have always been this time of year over the more than half a century that I have fished this Heritage Water. Only one fly was needed when the fish were feeding. A # 14 or 16 Hornberg with a yellow body filled the bill for the duration.

This year, for the first time ever, Scotty and I decided to try the pond in early July. Of course, we realized that the fishing might be slow due to warming waters. But the old timers always maintained that on this particular trout trove you could always manage a hookup all summer long, at least during the evening rise. We knew, too, that a vaunted Green Drake hatch was always an alluring possibility.

A wise man once said that “Disappointment is simply expectation meeting reality.”

It was not to be, this dream of ours about revisiting our delightful June trouting experience on the pond. Reality came upon us in a variety of ways, mostly weather related. The forecast for a “chance of showers” in Northern Aroostook County turned into a mostly drizzle with a few breaks in between for setting up our tents and camp. We got on the pond with fly rods just before dark, but no matter how much you gink up your fly, it is not easy to get a good float in a steady drizzle. Scotty tried a Maple Syrup with a sinking line, but no avail.

We turned into our camp tents fishless, but not before we found some solace in pan fried moose steaks, a few cribbage games and a couple of Old Stump blowers.

On day two, the weather looked like it might break. The sun peaked through, and with high hopes we spent the morning fishing nearby pond number two, which seemed to have cooler water. Again, we tried them all: dry flies on top, fast stripping the Black Ghost and assorted wet flies, and even down below with Maple Syrups, Golden Retrievers and Wooly Buggers. Nothing, nada.

And then, at midday, the wind began to blow. Blue sky transformed itself into low-hanging, fast-moving clouds with dark edges.

We checked the forecast on our weather radio: “Severe thunderstorms expected in Northern Maine with wind gusts to 75 mph. Possible tornadoes.”

The fishing trip is over. Time to pack up. Those skimpy, nylon Big Store tents with the pathetic toy stakes don’t do well in high winds, not to mention a tornado.

Timbuktu is a long way to go for just one night, fish or no fish. On the trip home we looked at each other with slight smiles of resignation, unspoken acknowledgement that fishing can be like that, and at least we tried.

Fishing writer and armchair philosopher Arthur Macdougall, Jr. hits the proverbial nail on the head when he opines that “If we knew all there is to know about fishing for trout, would we not give it up for something more interesting?”

Golf is fun, but I would still rather fish for trout if given a choice. That special pond near Timbuktu is not going anywhere, and one fishless July day there does not dampen our passion. It only makes us count the days and months until next June when the hatch is on, and the trout are active once again.

MOVIE REVIEW

THE ODYSSEY [2026]

After winning two Academy Awards with “Oppenheimer,” writer/producer/director Christopher Nolan returns to grand-scale filmmaking with an epic story that’s three thousand years in the making. Based on Homer’s ancient poem, “The Odyssey” may have been faithfully and loosely adapted in the past, but never in such a Hollywood big-budget, ambitious fashion as this. It is worth noting that Nolan and cinematographer Hoyte van Hoytema shot the entire movie with IMAX film cameras, which is a sign that you are not just watching a movie; you are becoming part of the experience.

Many years after the end of the Trojan War, Odysseus (Matt Damon) on his way home to Ithaca is stranded on an island without any memory of how he got there. His only companion is the beautiful and obsessive Calypso (Charlize Theron), who nursed him back to health by feeding him lotus flowers. Eventually, he can recall leading his Greek army under the command of Agamemnon (Benny Safdie) to overtake the city of Troy from the Trojans but then faces many obstacles on the journey back, including a giant cyclops, the vengeful witch Circe (Samantha Morton), a trip to the underworld, and the wrath of the gods.

Meanwhile, Queen Penelope (Anne Hathaway) is still waiting for her husband’s return, though a large group of suitors led by the slimy Antinous (Robert Pattinson) are vying for her hand in marriage. However, her determined son Telemachus (Tom Holland), with the help of half-blind Eumaeus (John Leguizamo), sneaked out of the kingdom to sail with Mentor (Ryan Hurst) to find his father. On a stop to Sparta’s kingdom of Menelaus (Jon Bernthal), the king tells him he does not know if his father is still alive but can recall fighting alongside him in the fall of Troy before marrying Helen (Lupita Nyong’o). As Odysseus finds his way back to his wife and son, Antinous conspires with the other suitors to take the Queen and the kingdom by force.

Those who know the story will tell that it had to be condensed for the entirety of this three-hour film, including minimizing the role of the goddess Athena (Zendaya) to simply being Odysseus’ spiritual guide. Still, the main core of the poem remains, and Nolan does a very good job keeping a tight and concise focus on the journey itself, especially with his habit of going back-and-forth with the timeline. There are just enough necessary side characters to use, so that the film wouldn’t feel too overstuffed. The writing and directing are once again in full display in a top-notch manner that it’s an unquestionable success.

Thanks to its IMAX photography, every frame looks astounding and easily comes right out of the screen. It also makes great use of its stunning locations, bringing a more exotic flavor to this ancient tale. Since the director likes to bring more practicality to his filmmaking, there’s definitely some careful attention to both the cinematography and the special effects to help complement the story.

There’s also a nice balance between dialogue scenes and intense action sequences that are wonderfully placed together to keep the flow of the story moving. The tone is very consistent between the emotional drama and the battle scenes, which brings home a thrilling experience for the big screen. Everything naturally comes together in the climactic fight scene between Odysseus and the suitors that becomes a well-choreographed battle to the death.

Like in his other films, Nolan put together an astonishing all-star cast, who each give it their all successfully. Damon may be playing the ancient hero equivalent of Jason Bourne, but he’s still a very capable lead actor honoring his character’s journey. Holland is equally at his very best, as is Hathaway, giving a powerful performance. Even Pattinson isn’t afraid to go a little extra mad in his villainous role no matter what his scenes call for. But while all their roles are small, Zendaya, Nyong’o, and Theron each still bring a touch of elegance and emotion to their portrayals.

Christopher Nolan has certainly made another winner with “The Odyssey,” not just for the box office, but also for the hearts and minds of filmgoers around the world. Whether or not it will take home awards history like “Oppenheimer” remains to be seen, though he still made quite a near-perfect masterpiece of cinematic proportions.

MENIERE'S DISEASE

Q. A friend of mine has Meniere’s disease. What is it exactly?

Meniere’s disease is an inner-ear disorder that produces a group of symptoms including vertigo, a spinning sensation that can lead to nausea and vomiting. Meniere’s usually occurs in only one ear.

The disease was named after French physician Prosper Ménière who first described it in 1861. Meniere’s main symptoms are:

- Attacks of vertigo without warning that last 20 minutes to more than two hours.
- Permanent hearing loss that is suffered by most people with Meniere’s.
- Tinnitus, which is a ringing, buzzing, roaring, whistling or hissing sound in your ear.
- A feeling of fullness or pressure in the ear.

Attacks can come as often as daily or as little as once a year. An attack can be a combination of multiple symptoms.

The cause of Meniere’s disease isn’t known. It seems to be the result of the abnormal volume or composition of fluid in the inner ear. However, researchers are uncertain about what causes changes in the fluid. There is speculation that it may be caused by viral infections of the inner ear, head injury, a hereditary predisposition, and allergy. Meniere’s is not contagious.

There is no cure for Meniere’s, but you can find relief by reducing body fluid with diuretic medicines and a change in diet. Drugs that treat vertigo and nausea are helpful, too. If Meniere’s disease is severe, it may have to be treated with surgery.

The following are some changes you can make in your lifestyle to help with Meniere’s:

- Eat approximately the same amount of food at each meal to regulate body fluids. You may also eat five or six smaller meals instead of three meals a day.

- Salt can increase fluid retention. Try to consume no more than 1,000 to 1,500 milligrams of sodium daily.
- Avoid monosodium glutamate (MSG). Prepackaged food products and some Asian foods include MSG, a type of sodium.
- Stay away from the caffeine in coffee, tea and some soft drinks. Caffeine can make symptoms worse.
- Nicotine can make Meniere’s symptoms worse, too. Quit smoking.

Part of the inner ear is a labyrinth lined with hair-like sensors that react to moving fluids. These sensors send information about body movement to the brain. The fluid and sensors tell us the direction and speed of our movements and they help us maintain balance.

If you experience symptoms of Meniere’s, see a physician for a diagnosis. Meniere’s symptoms can be caused by other diseases such as stroke, brain tumor, Parkinson’s disease, multiple sclerosis or cardiovascular disease.

Unpredictable attacks of vertigo from Meniere’s can be crippling. They can increase your risk of falling, having a car accident and getting depressed and anxious.

Turner Publishing

Turner Publishing Media is a family-owned and operated business established in Turner, Maine, in 1992. We have been supporting schools, children's sports and academics, as well as promoting businesses and the communities we serve for over 32 years. All of Turner Publishing's publications are Maine Made. Our printers use soy inks and solar methods to protect the environment while printing our publications. Our paper suppliers use power from hydroelectric sources and work with local plants to use waste heat; heat that would otherwise be sent into the environment, to help produce the steam needed in the papermaking process.

We were told 100% of the chips used for the newsprint come from waste streams of other processes, such as the waste from lumber mills. Our newsprint producers also have a process to ensure that all fiber supplies come from forests that are managed for sustainability and comply with forest management principles.

The chips go through a thermo-mechanical pulp-making process, which involves a combination of steam and mechanical force to break the chips into a "slurry" of water and fibers. Giant machines work the chips into a mixture that is mostly water. This mixture is then sent to a process to brighten the paper.

Newsprint is grayer than most other commercial papers. This is because the process of whitening newsprint does not use chlorine or other stronger agents and focuses on environmentally safe practices.

For this reason, we ask you to support Turner Publishing and the businesses in this publication and shop locally. Turner Publishing is not only doing its part to be environmentally responsible to save our planet, Turner Publishing promotes all the good things happening in the community and we donate over $300,000 annually in media sponsorships to non-profits, churches, historical museums, and the arts. The businesses in our publications help us do this with their ad revenue (support them as well), so that the good can keep spreading. "It's All Good News" and thank you for reading!

Lewiston celebrates its First Responders

Young Lewiston resident gets a free Snow Cone from a Police Athletic League volunteer during the July 23 event honoring the city's First Responders and affiliated groups. Police, Fire and Rescue organizations were all being noted for their service.

Life Flight employee/helicopter pilot Peter Devekos, of Portland shares with local friends, James and Kayden, what Life Flight offers in the area of Rescue and Safety to victims of accidental situations around south/central Maine.

By Bill Van Tassel

LEWISTON - For a good number of years now the city of Lewiston has made a point of recognizing and honoring its First Responders. They have put together events to shed light on what their responders do for the community and its citizens. None of us know when medical, domestic, or social challenges are going to come our way.

The Fire, Rescue and Police departments, United Ambulance Service, Life Flight, the 9-1-1 Communications, Police Athletic League, Hospital Emergency Rooms, Food Banks, and other operations available for personal or family crises are vital to both our urban and rural needs. Let us not forget the many other supportive actions taken by other agencies and the churches that have held Masses and other gatherings after the terrible, mass shooting of October 25, 2023, at Just in Time and Schemengees Bar & Grille.

Let's not forget those rescue and police officers who have who have had to enter icy, winter waters in the surrounding area to rescue both people and animals. We should be thankful to the more social organizations such as PAL-Police Athletic League that work with our often-challenged young people. The event may also be called a Meet & Greet and was organized with the city's Beyond the Badge Program.

This past July 23 an afternoon event was held in Payne/Simard Park in Lewiston; an appropriate site as it is named after two police officers who lost their lives while on active duty. Paul Simard (1958) and David Payne (1988) were both shot and killed while on duty inspecting domestic altercations/automobile accidents.

Citizens of all ages could find booths set up on that Thursday afternoon manned by employees of all the departments noted in the second paragraph above. All workers were willing to talk about what they do as well as offer some freebies like snow cones, cotton candy, stickers, Dunk Tank, Touch a Truck, canine demonstrations, bounce house, games, and food truck ready to serve.

Former governor Pau Lepage shares a moment at a recent event honoring First Responders in Lewiston with LPD Sergeant Desiree Michaud. Going on ten years of service with the LPD, Michaud was sharing her the advice, "Make Good Choices" to young people who stopped at her booth.
